SATURDAY is the great purchasing day of the week. Saturday night the masses make purchases. Merchants keep their establishments open until 10 o'clock. These facts are sufficient to demonstrate that Saturday morning is the best time in the week on which to advertise.

The Ohio figures have improved, till they are really magnificient.

For the death of Henry W. Shaw, we have only regrets. For the exit of "John Billings" we give thanks.

"It wasn't much of a shower in Ohio?" Then why is your poor, deluded old party so thoroughly wet down?

THURMAN is vindicated by the defeat of his party, even if the old gentleman did make two speeches for Hoadly.

It is noticed that Democratic organs are not kicking the Mugwumps with such eloquent emphasis since they heard from Ohio.

The best place of non-partisan work performed this year is the making of Ohio a November state. It is worth a day of national thanksgiving.

If it were worth while to kick the dead, something very severe and strictly true might be said about the attempt to steal the Ohio chairmanship in the interest of coal oil.

WOULD not the big soul of the great national Democratic party have swelled bigger with pride if Ohio had decreed a seat in the United States Senate for John R. McLean?

The fight in the Old Dominion.

If the Virginia Republicans had been privileged to order and arrange political events with sole reference to the success of their own campaign, they would have said "the best possible thing for us will be a Republican victory in Ohio."

If the Ohio Republicans had been resolved on making such a campaign as should give the greatest possible encouragement to their brethren in Virginia, they could have done nothing worse than that which they did in making political liberty the chief issue and winning the fight on it.

If, after pushing that issue to the front and holding it there, the Ohio Republicans had been defeated, the effect of the Virginia fight would have been disastrous.

The issue must have been just as important, the cause just as righteous in the gloom of defeat as in the light of victory, but the immediate result would have been to depress the Republicans and inspire the bairons.

This was what the Democrats expected—what they confidently looked for. They planned to go down the home stretch on the stimulus of a Hoadly victory and "the burial of the bloody shirt," by which facious name they designate the demand for a free ballot.

Never was a triumph more opportune, never was a victory better timed with regard to its moral effect than that which was won in Ohio last Tuesday. It has disengaged the Virginia bairons, and correspondingly elated the Republicans of that state. It has made some of the bairons desperate, and they are believed to be contemplating desperate methods for compassing the defeat of their opponents. It has come to the Republicans like a strong re-enforcement, and they are bravely pushing on to a victory that we honestly believe nothing but intimation or fraud can keep them from reaching.

The Democratic Disappointment.

The Ohio result is a bitter disappointment to the Democrats, for they had persuaded themselves that they were going to carry the state. They expected to carry it by so decisive a majority as to make it tolerably sure for their side in the next presidential contest. They pitted Hoadly against Foraker because they believed the former would repeat the victory of '88 with greatly increased emphasis by reason of far more favorable conditions. They took much comfort from the fact of Hoadly's intimate relations with the Presidents, and a correspondence of the Foraker camp.

THEODORE F. SWALEY, who was chief editor of the treasury under Secretary Folger, and who was reduced to H. 1000 by Secretary Manning, is threatened with serious brain trouble, the result of overwork, and has been granted unlimited leave of absence, the amount of which is to be determined by the Board of Governors.
